College Station shoppers looking for gifts and handmade finds will have a one-day market to browse in Northgate on Saturday, Nov. 7. A&M United Methodist Church lists its fourth annual Winter Wonderland Holiday Market at 417 University Drive, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with more than 50 vendors expected.

The church's event page describes offerings that include gifts, handmade goods, art, décor and treats. It also provides a vendor directory and market map for visitors who want to plan what to see. The organizer describes the vendors as local, though that does not mean every vendor is based in College Station.

Admission is listed at $5 at the door. According to the church, proceeds benefit BCS Together CarePortal, a program that connects local children and families with needed resources. That gives the market a community-support purpose alongside its shopping draw.

The schedule also includes a holiday car show in the church parking lot from noon to 3 p.m. Food, music, family activities and a silent auction are listed as part of the day. Visitors interested in the car show can plan for its later start; the market itself begins at 9 a.m.

The event offers a chance to browse a large group of vendors in one place and discover work from makers and sellers, rather than shop only through familiar retail options. The church's page says vendor applications for 2026 are closed, so this is an event for shoppers, not a call for additional vendors.

Because this is a one-day event, check the organizer's page before setting out for any updates to hours, admission or activities. The details here reflect the church's listing available Nov. 2, 2026.
